

would sign the paper; the Justice told her that if she didn't furnish bail he would send her to the County Jail; so after the case was settled that I gave Justice Hegeman the $7.

Justice Walch immediately sentenced Phalen to the Penitentiary for 60 days in default of a fine of $2. The name Hegeman has not been seen, and the woman was released.

BROOKLYN BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

THE PARK LITIGATION-INCREASED WATER SUPPLY.

At the meeting of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, yesterday afternoon, the Chairman, Alderman Bergen, informed the Board that he had a few minutes previously been served with a writ of mandamus issued from the Supreme Court by Judge Pratt, requiring the Board of Aldermen to show cause on the 18th of July next, why a peremptory mandamus should not be issued against them compelling them to appear commissioners and take all necessary steps for the opening of Platerts as provided for in the Law of the Legislature, passed June 20.

The suit was, motion of Alderman Guck, referred to the Law Committee and Corporation Committee to answer the writ. Mayor Tweed, in his communication in reference to his action regarding the Prospect Park Improvement Fund, in which he says:

"On 28th June, some honorable body adopted a preamble and several resolutions, one directing me to sue out of court for the payment of $100,000 on the part of the city in its favor, and another set off of May 2, 1869, the other sufficient capacity as of himself, etc. Since reported a sense of my duty led me to do what the Mayor ordered, but I have no right to sue out of court for the welfare of our city, unless I do to myself, and I am bound to do what the Mayor ordered, and I have done so, and I have no right to sue out of court, that will vindicate me in the course of repealing the law.

"My present convictions must remain unchanged until an unequivocal decision has been rendered by the Courts. My opinion is, that I am entitled to a hearing before the Courts, and I have a right to sue out of court for the purpose of checking each other's movements."

Mayo Kalfusich, who resides near by, was called upon to compel Justice Voorhees to rule in the blockade which the Mayor ordered. He was informed that when in that case he refused to do so, riot might result. When His Honor was charged with being a director of the Grand-St. line, and an interested party, The Mayor replied that he appeared there simply to do his duty; that he, in his opinion, neither of them could claim to be better than the other. No hostilities, however, occurred, and yesterday morning the plaintiff appeared before Judge Voorhees, and made a motion to supersede a writ of assistance formerly issued in favor of the defendant, by giving one in favor of plaintiff.

The parties are purchasers, under foreclosure, of separate parcels of land held by the Metropolitan Railroad Company, and Charles M. Randall, trustee, had the second mortgage, which included the branch extending into Queens County, and when the sale took place, under a judgment obtained by the plaintiff, it was found that the Union City branch was excepted and reserved. A sale was made to John P. Elwell and others in the first case, and to Austin Myers in the second case.

John P. Elwell, Mr. Myers had possession of that part of the road sold to Mr. Elwell, and that he refused to deliver it, and claimed to have purchased it under a judgment against the Metropolitan Railroad Company, Elwell & Co., however, claimed they had the good title to the road in the suit of P. E. & Co. against the Metropolitan Railroad Company, and when Mr. Myers refused to give them possession they came into Court and got a writ of assistance directing the Sheriff to put them in possession.

The remaining cases were of ordinary interest, and in from two to five days' pay were imposed in a majority of cases.

Later in the day the Commissioners dismissed the following: Patrolmen Valentine, member of the Twenty-ninth Precinct, New York; and John J. Hines, Fifteenth, Newark, Ninth; Doormen Michael Hines, Fifteenth, James Cavanaugh, Fourth, and Joseph Herring, Ninth Precincts.

DEPARTMENT OF DOCKS.

PETER COOPER AND UNSKILLED WORKMEN-PLANS FOR PUBLIC DOCKS, ETC.

The Dock Commissioners met yesterday, and after the usual routine business had been disposed of, Commissioner Henry announced that Superintendent Keyser, to whom had been referred the petition of the Farmers' Protective Union for leave to erect dump-hoops at the foot of Forty-seventh-st., North River, and Sixteenth-st., East River, had reported the pier at Forty-seventh-st. in a wretched condition—already overcrowded with the deposits of the Street Contractor, and 150 feet of its lower end washed away or broken so as to make it perfectly useless; that as to the bulkhead between Sixteenth and Seventeenth-sts., Superintendent McKeon reported that it already required dredging, and that there was no convenient way of getting the bulkhead up to the water level; and that the bulkhead was excepted and reserved. A sale was made to John P. Elwell and others in the first case, and to Austin Myers in the second case.

John P. Elwell, Mr. Myers had possession of that part of the road sold to Mr. Elwell, and that he refused to deliver it, and claimed to have purchased it under a judgment against the Metropolitan Railroad Company, Elwell & Co., however, claimed they had the good title to the road in the suit of P. E. & Co. against the Metropolitan Railroad Company, and when Mr. Myers refused to give them possession they came into Court and got a writ of assistance directing the Sheriff to put them in possession.

The papers were handed to the Court, and a decision will be rendered in a few days.

SUPERIOR COURT-CHAMBERS.

Decisions—By Judge Barbour.—Motions granted.—Ville agt. Fawcett, Winkleshten agt. Otterdoerfer, Vanse agt. Baggett, and Pippy agt. Smith.

COMMON PLEAS-CHAMBERS.

Decisions—By Judge Loew.—Barton agt. Herman.—Motion granted, with $10 costs. Berger agt. Thornton—Motion for receiver denied, without costs.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her own recognizance on a charge of being a common prostitute, and was given a short time in the house of correction.

John J. O'Donnell, a saloon keeper on the corner of Elm and Grand-sts., who on Friday last was found guilty of grand larceny in stealing on June 23 a gold watch and chain from Mr. Manning, yesterday died in his cell in two hours. He was a native of the State Prison. Since his conviction, and before the sentence, O'Donnell returned the stolen property....Eliza Ellis was discharged on her